

A Message from EPA Administrator Lisa Jackson

Celebrate National Environmental Education Week

April 11-17, 2010

U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Administrator Lisa Jackson, inspired by young people, encourages participation in National Environmental Education Week -- "a time to get involved in lessons and activities that teach valuable environmental skills."

National Environmental Education Week (EE Week) is a program of the National Environmental Education Foundation and the nation's largest environmental education event. Held each year the week before Earth Day, EE Week inspires environmental learning and stewardship among K-12 students by connecting educators with environmental resources to promote students' understanding of the environment.

Administrator Jackson supports National Environmental Education Week

Click here to watch Administrator Jackson's video message.

To embed the video on your Web site, use the code below:

```
<embed src='http://www.neefusa.org/assets/js/player-viral.swf' height='240' width='320'
allowscriptaccess='always' allowfullscreen='true' flashvars='file=http%3A%2F%2Fwww.neefusa.org%2Fassets%2Fflash%2FLisaJackson.flv&plugins=viral-1d/'>
```

The National Environmental Education Foundation (NEEF) provides knowledge to trusted professionals who, with their credibility, amplify messages to national audiences to solve everyday environmental problems. Together, we generate lasting positive change.

NEEF partners with professionals in health, education, media, business and public land management to promote daily actions for helping people protect and enjoy the environment. Through our primary programs - Classroom Earth, National Public Lands Day, National Environmental Education Week, Business and Environment, Earth Gauge(r) and Health & Environment - we offer Americans knowledge to live by. To learn more, call (202) 833-2933 or visit <http://www.neefusa.org>.