National Environmental Education Week, April 11-17, is just around the corner and educators across the country are preparing for a week-long celebration of environmental learning by planning activities and lessons for their students.

Do you have an exciting event or activity planned for EE Week? We would love to hear about it! Sharing your stories helps us demonstrate the importance of environmental education and provides inspiration to fellow educators new to EE Week. Selected stories will be featured in local and national press as well as online at EEWeek.org and www.neefusa.org.

Contact Sarah Kozicki at skozicki@neefusa.org to get started. To view environmental success stories visit www.eeweek.org/success/.

Our Program

National Environmental Education (EE) Week is the largest organized environmental education event in the United States.

EE Week connects educators with environmental resources to promote K-12 students' understanding of the environment.

NEEF partners with professionals in health, education, media, business and public land management to promote daily actions for helping people protect and enjoy the environment. Through our primary programs - Classroom Earth, National Public Lands Day, National Environmental Education Week, Business and Environment, Earth Gauge(r) and Health & Environment - we offer Americans knowledge to live by. To learn more, call (202) 833-2933 or visit <http://www.neefusa.org>.

The National Environmental Education Foundation (NEEF) provides knowledge to trusted professionals who, with their credibility, amplify messages to national audiences to solve everyday environmental problems. Together, we generate lasting positive change.
